

Confident Stassen Announces He's In Race For President

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA — (P)—Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, is going to make a second attempt to win the Republican nomination for president of the United States.

Stassen, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, last night joined two other seasoned GOP campaigners in the nomination fight—U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

It's Boom Slow

There was immediate speculation that Stassen's declaration would slow down the drive of a number of Republicans who have been campaigning to get Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower into the field. However, backers of the general discounted such speculation.

Stassen said some time ago he would endorse the general's nomination—if Taft would do the same.

In fact, the Minnesotan recently asked Taft publicly to quit the race and support, with Stassen, the Eisenhower campaign.

But last night, before addressing millions of Americans on a nationwide radio and television simulcast, Stassen disavowed the offer and said "it is all off now." "I am in the race without a commitment to any other person," he declared.

No One-Man Band

Attacking the present administration's foreign and domestic policies as "failures" and "disasters," Stassen said he would offer a "humanitarian and liberal program" to the American people. This is his platform:

1. A new American foreign policy that would defeat Communism without war, and give freedom to all peoples of the world.
2. Higher moral standard in Washington "with plain honesty in public employes."
3. A modern gold standard, with a "solid dollar," to prevent inflation.
4. "Full employment, excellent farm income, conservation of natural resources and a balanced budget."

5. Harmony between labor, farmers, employers "with less tax-paying and more profit-sharing plans with employers throughout American business."
6. An administration that seeks experienced counsel and "is not a one-man band."

Peninsula Unit Blasts Jam In Mona Lake Ice

MUSKEGON, Mich.—(P)—A demolition team of National Guardsmen exploded two tons of dynamite in the Mona Lake ice jam today in an effort to blast out a flood danger.

The charge was set off at 1:53 p. m., EST. It was not determined immediately whether the blast would be sufficient to unloose the ice jam.

The explosion tossed huge chunks of ice 100 feet into the air.

Guardsmen had two more tons of explosives ready for another blast if needed.

Maj. Gen. Ralph Loveland, commander of the Michigan National Guard, was on hand to observe in official capacity.

Precautions were taken. Gas was turned off in cottages of the vicinity to avert any explosion when the dynamite was touched off.

Additional families were evacuated. Only about seven families remained in the threatened area, State Police said.

The police put up a guard on property and otherwise took part in a general alert of the district.

Wind Takes Floes

Norton township police and sheriff's officers stood by. So did a Red Cross disaster crew and a fire department rescue team, both on duty since the flood danger began.

The National Guard flew its demolition crews here yesterday, from the 107th Engineers combat battalion base at Escanaba. A guard plane from Detroit brought the team.

A freshening off-shore wind this morning was aiding the guardsmen.

It had dispersed some of the ice floes farthest off shore. Now, engineers thought, one blast of dynamite might be sufficient to clear the channel instead of the two explosions planned.

Four American Airmen Freed By Red Hungary

DEMOLITION TEAMS FLOWN TO MUSKEGON—Trained National Guard demolition teams from Escanaba, Gladstone and Manistiquie, are shown above at the Escanaba airport as they prepared to board a plane for an ice blasting mission in Mona Lake, near Muskegon. The Peninsula guardsmen, members of the 107th engineer combat battalion, carried equipment for setting off four tons of dynamite intended to alleviate flood conditions caused by an ice jam in the lower Michigan community. The personnel of the demolition unit included: Capt. E. J. Doyle, sergeants John P. Quick, Everett Patz, Richard Dufour and Anton Weber; first class privates John Louis and Robert White, all of Manistiquie; Sergeants Clinton J. Marenger of Escanaba and Lloyd A. Lessard, Gladstone. The crew of the national guard DC-3 was made up of Capt. J. R. Tuohy, Lt. R. E. Reiner and T/Sgt. W. J. Vine.

Fliers Whisked Back To Their Base At Erding

Government Pays Off
$120,000 Ransom

By CURT HAMPE

NICKELSDORF, Austria—(P)—The four American airmen jailed by Communist Hungary for 40 days came back to freedom tonight.

The fliers crossed the Hungarian frontier into Austria at 5:01 p. m. (11:01 a. m., EST). Within a few minutes they were sped on their way back to their base at Erding, Germany.

Treated "All Right"

U. S. officials at the border kept the four men under wraps, but as they were starting to drive to Tulln air base, outside Vienna, one of them was asked by a reporter how he was treated in Hungary.

"All right" was all that Sgt. Jess Duff, of Spokane, Wash., replied. He was the mechanic aboard the C-47 transport forced down on Hungarian soil by Soviet fighter planes Nov. 19.

The four men appeared through the mist of the raw, damp evening, looking tired. They were hustled into a room of the Austrian border police building. Eagerly they drank the coffee and ate the sandwiches provided by the welcoming party. Two stiff Russian officers and the American party joined in the snack.

Speeds To Frontier

Walter J. Donnelly the U. S. ambassador in Vienna came to the Austrian frontier to greet the fliers. The U. S. had agreed to pay $120,000 in fines levied against the men on a charge of violating the Hungarian border, provided the men were promptly released.

Donnelly announced in Vienna earlier today that the fliers would be released at 4 p. m. (10 a. m., EST). He then sped to the frontier, but it was not until 4:38 o'clock he received Soviet permission to cross through the frontier barrier past Soviet guards.

The fliers were accompanied across the border by Lt. Col. William Alden Somerby, U. S. air attaché in the American legation at Budapest. Somerby wore civilian clothing.

Immediately upon reaching the Austrian side of the frontier the fliers went into a police post building, accompanied by High

Republican Central Committee Meets In Lansing On Jan. 30

LANSING—(P)—The Republican state central committee was called to meet here on the afternoon of Jan. 30 for a regular session.

Preceding the session, the central committee will attend a noon luncheon at which the executive committee's plans for the 1952 political campaign will be unveiled.

The committee will be asked to approve an amendment to its by-laws setting up a method to appoint members from any new congressional district or divided congressional district which shall be created by the legislature. Presumably this refers to the recent division of the 17th district into the 17th and 18th districts.

Steel Strike Held Off For Three Days

PITTSBURGH—(P)—The nation will escape a crippling steel strike on New Year's day—but will have to face the threat again on Jan. 3.

The wage-policy committee of the CIO United Steelworkers voted to defer a work stoppage for at least three days. That gives the

Contract At Stake

The convention also will make the union's formal answer to President Truman's appeal to avert a strike and submit the steel contract dispute to the Wage Stabilization Board. The steel companies already have agreed to the president's proposal.

The action of the wage policy committee had been widely predicted. Mr. Truman, who says there must not be a steel strike in view of the national defense emergency, has declared he will use every law on the books to prevent a nationwide steel walk-out.

If the convention accepts the president's plan, the Wage Stabilization Board will study arguments of both sides and outline recommendations. These will not be binding on either side.

An entire new contract between the big union and the country's steel companies is at stake.

Living Costs Blamed

The union's 22 demands are topped by a call for an 18 1/2 cent hourly wage increase. Murray also wants a guaranteed annual wage, union shop, and other concessions for the men in the mills. He says higher living costs and industry profits justify a substantial wage increase.

The 650,000 USW members employed in the industry now average slightly less than $2 an hour. The wage policy committee emphasized that the strike was put off only until the convention at Atlantic City.

Mr. Truman expressed happiness and hope when he heard the news at his Independence, Mo., home where he is spending the Yule holidays. The hope was that there will be no strike at all.

New Gun Shoots Around Corners

DETROIT—(P)—The army has perfected a sub-machine gun that shoots around corners.

And what is more, Joseph C. Soma, project engineer at the Detroit arsenal, says the curved barrel is more accurate than a straight one.

Sights are secret, but the gun shoots a .45 calibre slug that can be deflected as much as 90 degrees and will pierce an inch-thick pine board at 100 yards. It will fire 450 rounds a minute.

The around-the-corner gun, is made by attaching a curved barrel to the army's M-3 sub-machine gun, commonly known among GIs as the "grease gun."

The gun using the curved barrel is a light type costing only $18 to manufacture and was dropped by the hundreds to the French underground in World War II. It was designed so that barrels could be interchanged, permitting the underground to use captured German 9-millimeter ammunition.

The curved barrel can be attached in less than a minute.

Baby Abandoned

Churchill Ready To Talk A-Bomb

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (P)—Prime Minister Churchill probably will urge a greater exchange of atomic information between the United States and Britain during his far-reaching conference with President Truman.

Atomic energy is among the dozen topics he has told the American government he wants to take up in the course of his visit here, starting late next week.

Both Britain and Canada, with which the U. S. had a partnership in atomic bomb development during the war, have long felt light American restrictions on atomic secrets were hampering developments in that field.

Any change in these restrictions, however, would require not only approval by the President but action by Congress. Whether either of these conditions will be met in the predictable future is something no one can even speculate.

More than two years ago the American, British and Canadian governments opened negotiations to see whether they could work out a formula for enlarging the inter-change of atomic information and in a limited way, at least, revive the cooperative effort of World War II days. Then scientists of all three countries joined their efforts and knowledge to produce the first atomic bomb.

Those negotiations were shelved after the notorious Klaus Fuchs spy case broke in Britain in February 1950. Fuchs, one of Britain's top atomic experts, pleaded guilty to giving secrets to Russia. Since that time there has been, so far as is publicly known, no serious effort to reopen the negotiations.

Regulations Lifted For Buying Old Cars

WASHINGTON—(P)—Starting Jan. 2, you may buy a 1942 or older model used car on the best terms you can get from a dealer.

The Federal Reserve board announced yesterday it will free such autos from its regulation "W" on that date. The regulation requires a one-third down payment and pay-off of the balance in 18 months.

The reserve board said its action will have little practical effect because, it said, the general trade practice on older cars before federal curbs were imposed was to require even stiffer terms.

Smoke Suffocates Detroit Woman, 55

DETROIT—(P)—Mrs. Grace Gillis, 55, died of suffocation from smoke fumes, an autopsy showed today.

Her body was found on a charred mattress in her apartment last night.

Police said the smoke came from the mattress which was charred from the heat of an electric reading lamp which had fallen on the bed.

Over 450 Americans Die In Prison Camps

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

MUNSAN, Korea — (P)—The U. N. command said today at least 450 American soldiers have died in North Korean prison camps.

An official communique said that is 77 per cent of United Nations troops known to have been imprisoned in rear areas and not accounted for in last week's list of living prisoners.

Simultaneously the Communists indicated a complete list of living U. N. prisoners already is in Allied hands.

Not On Roster

The 450 soldiers were not among those listed on the Communist roster of 11,559 prisoners. They apparently were among 571 Americans the Reds said Wednesday had died of disease or were killed by Allied air raids or artillery fire.

The U. N. command said its announcement was based on a study of the Reds' Wednesday report.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho hinted Friday at Panmunjom that the Reds would report that many other Americans, not yet accounted for, had died of disease or exposure in prison camps.

No Progress On Truce

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby quoted Lee as saying "we must remember that Americans are not accounted for."

Britain Favors New .280 Rifle

By ELTON C. FAY

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md.—(P)—The United States Army is busily trying to shoot holes in Britain's argument that her new .280 caliber rifle is a superior weapon and should become the standardized rifle for the Western Allies.

American Army ordnance experts, announcing firm intention to adhere to the .30 caliber size for both current and future U. S. rifles, put on a firing demonstration at this big weapons development center yesterday. British military officials, among others, attended.

All this doesn't seem to augur well for one item on Prime Minister Churchill's reported agenda for discussion with President Truman. Mr. Churchill, due to reach Washington late next week, is an exponent of Britain's new light rifle.

When the British army showed off its new weapon last August it didn't make any verbal comparison with American weapons. The U. S. Army ordnance men yesterday pointedly declined to compare their new light, .30 caliber rifle with Britain's .280.

More Cuts In Auto Materials Will Be Blow For Michigan

(By The Associated Press)

A further cut in materials for the auto industry, as threatened in Washington, "could well be a catastrophe for the working people of Michigan" in the view of President C. E. Wilson of General Motors.

Defense production administrator Manly Fleischmann said in Washington last night that allotments of materials for the auto industry will be "substantially cut" in the April-June quarter of 1952.

Only a short time earlier President Wilson of GM had wired mobilization director Charles E. Wilson:

"Further reduction in allowable automobile production will not result in the production of one more gun, tank or airplane in the second (April-June) quarter of

Phantom Sniper Shoots 6 Women

GARVEY, Calif.—(P)—Authorities searched today for an ancient two-door sedan as a clue to the "Phantom Sniper" who critically wounded another woman yesterday.

Mrs. Audrey Murdock, 42, is the sixth target of the mysterious bullets in the past five months. One of the victims was slain. All the shootings occurred in the southeastern section of Los Angeles.

In all previous instances a .22 caliber weapon was used.

The bullet that struck Mrs. Murdock is lodged in her liver. Physicians said her condition was too critical to permit its immediate removal. So its caliber is not known.

She was struck as she stood at her ironing board in her kitchen. At first officers thought that a different "Phantom Gunman" might have shot Mrs. Murdock. Later they decided that the hole through the kitchen window indicated strongly that the bullet also was from a .22 caliber weapon.

Last month Mrs. Alma A. Megridge, 40, was shot in the thigh. Previous targets included 10-year-old Patricia Bryant, waiting for a bus, and Mrs. Lois Kruezer, in a phone booth. Mrs. Nina Marie Bice was killed with a bullet through the head as she sat in a lunch stand. A bullet just missed Mrs. Lloyd M. Walter.

PETOSKEY — (P)—Blind Mrs. Mary Tromble may get her belated Christmas present—partial sight—on New Years. The 83-year-old widow was released from the hospital yesterday after an operation a week ago for removal of cataracts on both eyes. Petoskey service groups planned the operation as a Christmas gift.

next year than otherwise will be produced."

Wilson's wire to the mobilization chief was in acceptance of an invitation to attend a Washington conference of government, industry and labor leaders tomorrow to discuss a solution to the growing unemployment problem in auto manufacturing centers.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, who said he and senator Blair Moody (D-Mich) would attend the Washington conference, (called one of his own for Thursday at Lansing).

Williams says specifically he wants to know whether building and highway plans can be speeded to relieve unemployment caused by cutback in civilian production. He has summoned virtually every state department to the meeting.

Tax Act Changes Affect Farmers

Keeping Records Is Important

Some changes in the income tax law have been made and will be of special concern to farmers here reports Joe Heirman, Delta county agricultural agent.

One of the changes has to do with sales of draft, breeding and dairy animals. Under some circumstances these may be considered as sales of capital assets and only half of the gain from such sales is taxable. To qualify, the farmer must have owned the animal for at least 12 months and the animal must have been held for draft, breeding or dairy purposes and not primarily for sale in the course of farm business. Poultry is not included in this classification for 1951.

Another change cited by Heirman makes it possible for a dependent to have a gross income up to $600 and still be claimed as an exemption. The previous figure was $500.

Sale of Property

A third item that farmers can consider in the new income tax law deals with the sale and purchase of property. If a farmer sold or exchanged his residence during 1951 at a gain and within one year after the sale purchased or occupied another residence, none of the gain is taxable if the cost of the new residence equals or exceeds the price of the old residence.

The sale of land with an unharvested crop is a new consideration in the filing of the 1951 income tax return, Heirman points out. If the land is used for farming and is owned for six months and is sold with the unharvested crop, then the crop is considered as property used in farm business and is subject to capital gain treatment the same as the land. Only half of the gain from such sales is taxable.

Bulletin Available

If a farmer is 65 years of age or over, it will pay him to keep a record of all medical expenses because they're deductible in full for the taxpayer or spouse when he has reached the age of 65. This provision does not apply to the dependent of the taxpayer.

A bulletin has been prepared to help the farmer with income tax reporting and is available at the county agricultural office, Heirman advises.

He again reminds farmers that keeping records of farm business is very important. It not only gives the farmers information from which to analyze his farm business but it also gives him the necessary information for filing his income tax form. Farm business is becoming more complicated each year and it is important to have a record to help in making wise adjustments of the farm business and in determining the amount of taxable income the farmer has.

Convicted Communist Gus Hall Gets Three More Years In Prison

NEW YORK — (AP)—Gus Hall, one of the 11 convicted Communist leaders, was sentenced today to three years in prison for criminal contempt of court.

The sentence is to be served in addition to a five-year term ordered when he was convicted with the other party leaders of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the United States government.

The contempt conviction was based on charges that he failed to surrender last July 2 to begin serving his five-year term and that he violated a court order in leaving jurisdiction of the court. Hall fled to Mexico.

Driven by the winds, turned by the spinning earth, the water of the North Atlantic slowly revolves, always clockwise as viewed from above.

Ruark Writes About Burchett

Knew Him Before He Turned Red

By ROBERT C. RUARK

WASHINGTON—In the middle of the usual Christmas flurries of too much turkey and tinsel, I find myself a touch haunted by the front-page pictures of Wilfred Burchett, the Communist correspondent whose testimony in Korea has more or less guaranteed the existence of Maj. Gen. William Dean, long-missing commander of the U. S. 24th division.

The pictures of Burchett look the same—happy chipmunk grin, not too much chin, slight little fellow who was mostly more timid than not except when he had a load aboard. I used to know Burchett, back in the old war. That was when he was an ordinary correspondent covering the war for one of the British press combines. That was before he turned Communist—before he blossomed on the scene in a quilted Oriental jacket writing the war in Korea for a French Communist paper as a high shot with the Red forces.

Burchett and I used to share a room, from time to time, in the Moana hotel in Honolulu, together with Lyle Shoemaker of the United Press and Bud Foster of the radio. It was Bud's room, I remember, and Burch usually slept on the floor. Even then he was sharing other people's wealth, for a hotel room on Oahu, in 1944, represented plenty money.

A Neat Man

It seemed to me that Burchett did his job well, and as I recall the pieces I censored for him. They were not filled with doctrine of any sort, but were mostly straight away stuff that incurred small wrath among the guardians of security. This was not true of some passionate American citizens who tried every dodge to sneak forbidden information past Admiral Nimitz' harassed watchdogs.

I liked Burchett. I ran around with him a whole lot in his native Australia, when he switched to coverage of the Australian-based British Pacific fleet. He was a very neat little man, in his American officer's uniform with the press brassard on the arm. It was cold in Australia that winter, and Mr. Burchett was snuggler in an officer's short melton overcoat than he seems to be in Korea, where he wore the quilted jacket of the Red army whose pet he has become.

We did a lot of frivolous things that year in Australia. Burch had a pretty, plump girl who certainly would not fit into the workers' scheme of staunch Red femininity. She was, you might say, a highly dangerous example of the frivolity of the bourgeoisie. She wore dainty silks and sheer stockings and high-heeled shoes. She loved to give fancy dinners with lots of wine, and she loved to go to the races and to meet at the cocktail lounge of the better hotels for a few martinis with Burchett and his friends. She had a pipeline into the black market; she was never short of grog or cigars at a time when both were premium luxuries.

Why The Change?

I was certainly not aware at the time that I was palling around with the embryo darling of the Communists—a man of such firm Communist conviction that he since has completely divorced himself from the Western world by appearing in semi-official position at top Red headquarters. Personally there was no inkling that Burchett was dissatisfied with the world as he saw it from the other side. I would say he brooded no more than the average rollicking correspondent whose first thought was perquisites and facilities—meaning booze, babes, steaks and lodging.

It intrigues me, at least, to reflect on what might have happened to a man of seemingly eminent normality, with a background of freedom and a wide view of the world—a man of above-average intelligence and social adjustment—to drive him into bondage as a spokesman for mass slavery, for complete denial of individual rights.

Burchett is much too sophisticated a fellow, much too smart a

Escanaba Postoffice Returns To Normalcy

It's the calm after the storm now at the Escanaba post office. The waiting lines have disappeared, the extra tables have been removed, the flood of incoming mail has subsided and the group of 16-part-time helpers are gone.

Gone for another year are the truckloads of incoming mail like those that appeared on Christmas Eve and Christmas morning giving volunteer personnel a working Christmas Day.

All Christmas mail has been delivered and mountains of parcel post packages have been distributed. Every attempt was made to deliver packages before Christmas and by 6 p. m. on December 24 all parcel post was cleared from the mail room.

The only evidence of last week's activity was the postmaster's efforts to get back to normal.

Citing this year as one of the record high group in volume of mail handled, Assistant Postmaster Sterling Praiss described the 1951 Christmas mailing as one in which Escanaba maintained a steady flow of outgoing mail; this differed from last year's period of isolated peak days. 1950's high for one day was approximately 62,000 cards and letters whereas this year a steadier run of outgoing mail was maintained at the 42,000-44,000 mark.

Praiss noticed a conscious effort by Escanaba residents to mail early. He found a high volume appearing sooner and the slow-up occurring earlier than in former years.

The greatest problem the main post office had to contend with was the torrent of mail coming in on storm-delayed trains which consistently set the office back 24 hours because it came in too late to make the day's delivery.

Christmas Program

CORNELL—"Put Christ Back Into Christmas" was the theme of the Christmas program at the Cornell school. Decorations pertained to the story of the Birth of Christ. Mrs. Ethel Larson's class gave a program for each of the other rooms, and Mrs. Edith Rosenquist's room also gave a program for the primary children. Lyle LeCaptain, teacher of the intermediate grades had a party for his pupils. Each room served holiday refreshments.

man, to go for the thinly masked ideologies that the Communists peddle today as an excuse for totalitarian conquest. He has seen the other side, and has enjoyed the fruits of freedom.

But there he is, self-sold into slavery as a journalist, and condemned forever to espousal of a world-dominating scheme that makes Hitler's look meek and mild. You merely wonder, between the glibly grave and the cranberries. You knew him when, and still don't know what turned him off his path.

Total Of 5,616 Topsy Drivers Lose Licenses

LANSING — (AP) — Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., reported today 5,616 persons had their driving licenses suspended for drunk driving in the first 11 months of 1951.

In 1950, the total was 5,387. Alger estimated about 6,300 licenses will be suspended for all causes by the end of the month.

In his annual report, Alger said there had been an 18 per cent increase this year in the number of reports of court action involving drivers, indicating greater cooperation between the department and the courts to control poor drivers.

In the past 11 months, the department rejected 4,471 license applications on the request of the state police and revoked 2,550. At the same time the licenses of 2,269 cars were suspended and 147 licenses cancelled for various reasons.

The department suspended the licenses of 19,525 persons who failed to answer court summons in driving cases, the suspensions lasting until the summons were answered.

Reports of court convictions against 96,487 persons were filed with the department.

The department said it took in $141,429.034 during the year, or $18,000,000 more than last year.

More than 2,800,000 license plates were processed by the department in 1951, and 1,500,000 titles were issued.

Alger said new car license applications dropped 15 per cent during the year, while transfer of used car titles jumped 20 per cent.

The department refunded $4,778,509 in gas taxes paid by farmers on operation of agricultural machinery and tractors.

Three Baby Sitters Under Sentence For $18,000 Home Theft

LYNN, Mass. — (AP) — The famous baby sitting case was marked "closed" today with the three schoolgirl principals under court sentence for the theft of $18,000 from the home of a doctor.

Roberta McCauley, 15, the baby sitter, and one of her two companions, Marilyn Curry, 16, were placed yesterday under the jurisdiction of the youth service board, a state agency which handles rehabilitation of juvenile offenders.

Eileen Jeffery, 17, the other of the trio, was placed on probation for two years with the condition that she spend one year at the House of the Good Shepherd, operated by Catholic sisters for the rehabilitation of girls and women of all creeds.

For the next three to four weeks, Roberta and Marilyn will undergo classification processing after which a decision will be made by the youth service board as to their future until they reach 21.

The girls were accused of stealing $18,000 from Dr. Albert Coven for whose baby Roberta was a sitter. They went to New York with the money, the girls admitted, and spent $3,000 of it on good clothes and entertainment. They were fleeced out of the rest of it by three men they met at a Times Square cocktail lounge.

Dr. Coven committed suicide several weeks after the girls' spree.

Conservation Had Both High And Low Spots During 1951

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING — (AP) — Conservation in Michigan had high spots and low spots during 1951, but the lowest of all came last March when P. J. Hoffmaster died unexpectedly.

Hoffmaster, 58, died as he walked into his office one cold afternoon, and Michigan and the nation lost one of its leading conservationists. A pioneer in conservation education, the state park system and non-political conservation administration, his loss was a severe blow to the nation - leading Michigan conservation department.

He was succeeded four months later by Gerald E. Eddy, a veteran department employee and state geologist, in a move that was universally applauded by conservation interests. This was a high spot.

Another low spot was hit last winter when a record 40,000 to 50,000 deer died of starvation. This was plain evidence that Michigan has long had too many deer, but the legislature still refused to permit any increased hunting.

The starvations, stunted growth of buck antlers and a few bad breaks in the weather brought another low spot this fall—a poor deer season. Though more hunters than ever were out, their kill will probably not total more than 100,000 when it is tallied. This is 15 per cent poorer than last year.

Now for some of the high spots, just so we don't get too depressed.

Both pheasant and ruffed grouse hunting were good, with the grouse shooting rated excellent by most. The pheasant hunting, though not yet up to the good years in the early 1940's, was far better than it has been. The kill estimated at 1,000,000 birds.

Michigan easily held onto its lead in sales of hunting and fishing licenses over other states, selling more than 1,000,000 of each.

Fire Record Outstanding
Probably the brightest picture of all was on the forest fire front.

Poor Deer Season:
Another low spot was hit last winter when a record 40,000 to 50,000 deer died of starvation.

For the second successive year, a record low fire toll was marked up. In 1951 there were only 671 fires which damaged 4,317 acres.

The state forests saw another milestone reached with the first commercial cutting of red pine which had been planted when the state's reforestation program was young.

During 1951, the legislature greatly liberalized fishing laws. The biggest change was permitting fishing all year around in Southern Michigan lakes as had been permitted farther north for years. The bluegill season was lengthened, and opening day pressure on trout streams was relieved by setting some other season openings on the same day.

City's Ice Rink Program Has Thousands Of Happy Participants

ONE of the most popular programs conducted by the city recreation department is the winter skating program. Hundreds of youngsters utilize the skating rinks daily and they are supplemented by a large number of grownups who find ice skating a pleasant way to exercise.

When the indoor rink opened after Christmas, no less than 400 youngsters were on hand to inaugurate the skating season. Dozens of them were trying out the new skates that they found under the Christmas tree.

A tightened budget necessitated some retrenchment in the skating rink program this year and the senior high school rink was not constructed. However, there are excellent rinks at Royce Park and at Webster Park in addition to the indoor rink at the fairgrounds. Also, an outdoor hockey rink will be constructed soon at the junior high school playground so the hockey neophytes will have plenty of opportunity to develop their skills.

Maintaining public skating rinks is a costly operation, totalling quite a few thousands of dollars in Escanaba. The rinks must be constructed, flooded regularly, swept nightly and supervised for orderly regulation. It is an expenditure that pays off, though, in contented citizens and a healthier community.

For those who like to develop neighborhood rinks, the city still has a standing offer. You provide the labor, the city will pay for the water. A number of Escanabans take advantage of this offer each year to provide a small rink for little tots.

Dulles' Proposal Merits Consideration

WHEN we embarked on our present defense program, we knew we were taking on one of the toughest assignments in American history.

Never before had the people been asked to support in peacetime such colossal military preparations both for themselves and their friends abroad.

It can't really be held a surprise that the task is going slowly. Here there is no disposition to ask for more than the mildest curtailment of civilian life. In Europe, the politicians, remembering the nearness of other wars, can't bring themselves to demand heavy sacrifices from their peoples as soon again.

People don't work to a pitch easily in peace. If they get there, they won't stay. The disheartening stream of reports from Europe in recent weeks is indication how tough it is to get action when the peril is not great and immediate. The West is talking a good defense, but not doing much.

Isn't it time to take a serious view of this dilemma? Does it mean that we aren't going to get a really adequate defense unless war is at hand?

Obviously this is a risk we can't afford. Selfish American interest, if nothing more, demands that we take genuinely effective measures to protect the Atlantic community of nations.

But what other course is open to us? John Foster Dulles suggested one not long ago. He proposed we stop trying to build a defense force of such size and each and every free land within our orbit may feel independently secure.

He suggested that instead we create what he termed "community punishing power," a large central striking force to be held at convenient places for dispatch to any and every spot where aggression might threaten.

Dulles is convinced this mobile power would pack so much weight in Soviet calculations that it would be as great a deterrent as a border bristling with armor.

And, theoretically at least, this should be more economical than trying to put each country into condition to repel the invader itself, just as it is cheaper to maintain a central police force than to post guards at every shop and store in the city.

Beyond all doubt we must find a way out of this period of backing and filling. We've got to make up our minds what kind of defense we need to be safe and what kind of defense program people will actually support in peacetime.

If these are not the same thing, then some sort of workable compromise is imperative to assure us minimum security.

The Dulles proposal has undeniable appeal in this situation. And it might have a lot of impact in Congress, where in 1952, there is sure to be, more than ever, a questioning attitude toward the continuance of high military and economic aid to our Allies in the absence of clearly tangible results.

If the supporters of the present program think, however, that they have the best idea, then they should realize that they do not have much time left in which to prove it.

Diet Protest

Give me just a plain ham sandwich or another made of beef, give me beans or peas or porridge for my appetite's relief. Give me stuff the vegetarian can eat with much delight, give me mush and milk or salad, and I'll eat it, every bite. Give me simply bread and water or most anything you choose, but please serve me no more turkey, else I'll surely blow a fuse.

Give me coffee hot and steaming or perhaps a pot of tea, and I'll gladly hold the dinky cup upon my clumsy knee. Give me soda or a glass of milk, with cocoa or without, give me just some plain old water and I'll never have a doubt. But I beg you, as the holidays proceed without restraint, not to give me any egg-nog or I warn you I will faint.

Give me rest from all the turkey, and from all the egg-nog too, and I'll love you if some giblets do not turn up in the stew. Give me peace from Christmas eating, let me outlive my disgrace, else I'll never, in the future, look a turkey in the face. Give me time to get a little sleep and not stay up too late, and perhaps, soon after New Year's, I'll be master of my fate.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—In every administration, whether Democrat or Republican, the cue for clean government is set right at the top. Basically the fault lies with the president of the United States.

This was true of Warren G. Harding, who, though personally honest, spent so much time playing poker at the little green house on K street that the boys below and around him felt that they could indulge their own personal pleasures, too. Result was one of the worst eras of government graft.

This is also true, in a different way, of Harry Truman, who is not only honest personally, but had a well-publicized record in the Senate for exposing inefficiency and corruption.

Though President Truman also goes in for occasional poker parties with stakes so high that Speaker Sam Rayburn goes to bed; and though the president also has occasional conferences with I. W. Harper; the cue for influence-peddling is set not by him personally but by those around him. It is done in two ways:

1. By the fact that the White House staff accepts personal favors such as deep freezes and free airplane junkets in return for highly valuable concessions made at the taxpayers' expense.

2. By the fact that the men immediately around Truman don't get to the roots of corruption. They are not alert and militant as were honest Harold Ickes and the men around Roosevelt.

This lack of militancy is one reason why the president seems to have fumbled the ball regarding the appointment of Judge Tom Murphy to head a corruption clean-up.

THE PALACE GUARD

Truman began with every intention of a genuine clean-up. He seemed completely sincere about letting the chips fall where they may. But gradually, almost imperceptibly, the palace guard has shunted him around to the idea that the press is exaggerating the corruption issue in order to persecute one Harry Truman.

To one recent visitor, the president said reassuringly: "Corruption isn't as bad as it's painted and we're going to clean it up. The big trouble is the newspapers are all trying to outdo Drew Pearson."

This idea was the result of a steady sales campaign by the palace guard.

White House staff conferences never have been too inspiring, but today they are worse. Wilson Wyatt, the ex-mayor of Louisville, when in charge of veterans' housing, used to find his housing ideas sabotaged by Harry Vaughan, who sat in a corner of the room during staff meetings, held his nose and pulled an imaginary chain when he didn't like one of Wyatt's policies. The president watching Vaughan out of the corner of his eye, took the cue. He turned down so many of Wyatt's ideas that he resigned.

The incident illustrates the power of the White House staff on a president, especially one who is weak or changeable.

Today not many new ideas come up at staff meetings. Part of the time is monopolized by General Vaughan, who takes pride in having a couple of new jokes every day for the amusement of his chief, while part of the time is spent telling Mr. Truman about the unfairness of the press.

GOOD INTENTIONS

Once or twice the president has started his staff conference on what amounted to a sermon on clean government, repeated his famous quotation to Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney, "My friends have let me down," told how he never tolerated graft when he was a county judge for Tom Pendergast, and wound up with a firm statement that he intended to throw out the crooks.

Then when the conversation got around to specific ways of cleaning up influence, someone adroitly shifted it to Mr. Truman's pet target—the press. This never fails to get his dander up, and the president's original good intentions are forgotten.

Real fact is that Matt Connelly, most astute member of the White House staff, and friend of many of the big city Democratic bosses, has not seemed too enthusiastic about a slam-bang clean-up. It was Connelly who first suggested Judge Murphy to head the corruption investigation, but after Murphy insisted on a forthright staff of his own choosing with plenty of power behind it, the original ardor for a real house-cleaning seemed to cool around the White House.

AP Newsfeatures Writer
Gen. Douglas MacArthur is the biggest newsmaker of 1951.

For the second successive year he has been voted Man of the Year by Associated Press newspaper editors in a nationwide year-end poll.

MacArthur had nearly double the votes of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his nearest rival.

Here are the selections of editors in special categories:

Woman of the Year—Marguerite Higgins, Foreign Affairs—John Foster Dulles, Science—Dr. Max Theiler, Business and Industry—Charles E. Wilson, Labor—Philip Murray, Literature—Thor Heyerdahl, Entertainment—Mario Lanza, Sports—Leo Durocher.

For sheer drama, the MacArthur saga is without parallel in recent history.

In 1950, the general was first commander-in-chief of United Nations forces, supreme Allied commander for occupied Japan, and head of American armed forces in the Far East. Now MacArthur is still a five-star general but he has been stripped of all command.

MacArthur's firing by President Truman last April 11 was a shock to many Americans. A professional fighting man for 52 years, MacArthur came home to fight for his strategy on how to win the Korean war.

His "old soldiers never die" speech before Congress and his testimony before a Senate committee of inquiry brought about what has been called the Great Debate on American foreign policy in the Far East. Arrayed against him were the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Republicans generally massed to support MacArthur.

Friends insist MacArthur's name will be entered in state primaries as a Republican candidate for president next year. But these friends still have to convince the general. On that score, MacArthur said:

"I have no political aspirations whatsoever. I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope that my name will never be used in a political way. The only politics I have is contained in a simple little phrase known well by all of you—God Bless America."

JOHN FOSTER DULLES was cited as top man in foreign affairs over Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran.

Dulles, a Republican has been asked by three Democratic Presidents to help formulate and carry out the nation's foreign policy.

In 1917, Woodrow Wilson asked him to negotiate with Central American countries over protection of the Panama Canal. In 1945 Franklin D. Roosevelt tapped him as adviser to the U. S. delegation at the charter conference of the United Nations in San Francisco. President Truman asked him to take charge of drafting the peace treaty for Japan.

As principal architect of that treaty Dulles gained new fame last year. The treaty has been called a "pact of reconciliation—not of vengeance."

versity of California Chemists did atomic research.

The Theiler project was fraught with danger. Six co-workers died with yellow fever. They developed a new form of the yellow fever virus after transferring it through 200 generations of chickens in a controlled series of experiments. This new virus produced a mild form of the disease which provided immunity to virulent yellow fever. It saved many lives of soldiers in World War II.

MOLIBDIZER CHARLES E. WILSON was runaway leader for man of the year in business and industry. A year ago he was president of General Electric. He gave up that post in private industry to mobilize the nation's industrial strength for the gigantic defense effort.

PHILIP MURRAY is a three-time winner of the annual Man of Labor title. He also was cited in 1948 and 1949.

Born in Scotland, he began work at 10 years for about 30 cents a day. He came to this country and began union activity under John L. Lewis in the United Mine Workers. Murray helped Lewis create the Congress of Industrial Organizations and became president of the Steel Workers Union. When Lewis withdrew from the CIO, Murray became its head as well.

Murray's efforts in 1951 have been important but not spectacular. He has directed a campaign to tie in worker welfare with national economy so that wage earners can roll with the punch of climbing inflation.

THOR HEYERDAHL, who crossed the Pacific on a raft, walked off with literary honors. His exciting account of that voyage, "Kon Tiki," proved a non-fiction best seller and beat out a sensational first novel, "From Here to Eternity," by James Jones. Conrad Richter, Nobel prize winning novelist was third.

IN ENTERTAINMENT, the big voice won out. That means Mario Lanza. His booming tenor is somewhat reminiscent of Caruso's, whose role Lanza played in a spectacular movie. His closest competition came from the prolific team of Rodgers and Hammerstein who wrote songs, plays and produced them in this country and abroad.

Third place in entertainment fell to the little voice, Judy Garland, credited with bringing about a revival of vaudeville.

LEO DEROCHER managed the New York Giants to a "Cinderella" victory for the National League pennant. Not even the world series defeat by the New York Yankees dimmed the lustre of Durocher's accomplishment in driving his team, 13½ games behind on August 11, to a playoff victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Durocher's nearest rivals for outstanding sports figure of the year was Joe Walcott, new world's heavyweight boxing champion.

THE WOMAN of the year is Marguerite Higgins. A New York Herald-Tribune reporter, she won the title for her exploits as a war correspondent in Korea.

Korean Railroads Carry Major Load In UN's War

On the railroad that went to war in Korea, foxholes are the whistle stops and the fighting front is a freight yard, the National Geographic Society reports.

Several dozen new diesel-electric locomotives have been shipped to Korea recently. The U. S. Army Transportation Corps has disclosed. Unheralded in dispatches, they will be weapons nonetheless as crucial as the groaning trainloads of tanks, guns, supplies, and troops hauled north through the battered Korean countryside.

In the dark days of the Pusan foothold, an entire division was picked up and moved by train, 100 miles in less than 24 hours, to meet a Communist spearhead.

Many another time rail transportation has spelled the difference between success and failure of United Nations operations. Railways have been used tactically to an extent not seen since the American Civil War. They have also carried 95 per cent of the U. N. supply load in some areas.

Japanese Network

Japanese military engineers, in the years before World War II, built one of the Far East's finest rail networks in Korea. In many ways it was better than Japan's own narrow-gauge system. Track and equipment in Korea are standard gauge, built to match the Manchurian railways.

Roadbeds are well graded and well ballasted. Cuts and tunnels are reinforced with concrete and steel. Two and sometimes three bridges were built at vital river crossings on the 590-mile double track main line from Pusan north to Sinuiju on the Manchurian border. Japan built a railroad to meet military needs. Today the rails are doing just that, but not for the Japanese.

Prior to the opening of hostilities in 1950 there were about 3,500 miles of standard-gauge lines and some 40 miles of narrow-gauge branches throughout Korea. But the Iron Curtain across the 38th parallel had already chopped the system in two. In South Korea, an area about the size of the state of Indiana, there were 2,730 miles of track, requiring 239 tunnels and 1,724 bridges.

In the short span of 17 months, many parts of this network have been wrecked and rebuilt several times. Battered rolling stock has been patched up by one part repair facilities and two parts ingenuity. The small Korean steam locomotives often did their jobs with bullet holes in their boilers plugged with wooden pegs.

Hazard

Members of the U. S. 3rd Transportation Military Railway Service, who have supervised U. N. rail operations since the early days of the war, often hold the throttle in one hand and a gun in the other.

Trains have been pushed through guerrilla-held country with sand-bagged gondola cars mounted with machine guns on the front and rear. Locomotives and ammunition-loaded cars have been snatched from beneath the noses of the Communists as the enemy advanced on burning yards and roundhouses.

The only poisonous snake native to Michigan is the Massasauga or rattlesnake.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

CALLING OLD FRIENDS—In Peterborough Ont., Civic Hospital since Nov. 14, Dr. Nancy Rodger Chenoweth, formerly of Escanaba, is waiting to hear from old friends.

The brisk gray-haired lady who once shoveled the snow from walks in front of her office and home at 1010 First avenue south is now confined to bed with a heart ailment. She is 78 years old.

For about 50 years Dr. Chenoweth practiced in Escanaba, a period interrupted by her marriage to the Rev. G. T. Chenoweth in 1905 and a trip to the Canadian north-west with her Methodist missionary husband. She returned to Escanaba following the death of her husband in 1912—and continued actively in practice here until 1947.

That year she left Escanaba to be with her son, Dr. Rodger S. Chenoweth, who is with the staff of the Peterborough Medical Centre.

THE SELF-RELIANT—Born Nancy Rodger in Belwood, Ont., the girl who was to become one of the women pioneers in the medical profession learned and practiced self-reliance in and out of her professional life.

She attended public school in Belwood, and at the age of 20 received her degree in medicine from the University of Toronto.

In 1894 when the young Dr. Chenoweth came to Escanaba she was "the infant" among her colleagues—all male.

Fifty-three years later, in 1947, she was still brisk and self-reliant, a woman dedicated to a career that has brought her honor and respect—and friends.

THE BUSY YEARS—Today these friends have the opportunity to repay Dr. Chenoweth with cards and notes, telling her about themselves and their families, about Escanaba, the town for which she has a deep affection.

Her friends will recall the modesty of the doctor which did not permit her to point to the honors that had come her way through the years.

Yet she holds one of the high honors conferred by the American Medical Society, the status of "member emeritus," an award granted only to those who have practiced in the medical profession honorably for 50 years, and who, for 30 years, have been a member of the sponsoring Medical Society.

Dr. Chenoweth was the first member of the Delta-Schoolcraft Medical Society to achieve such distinction.

The busy years included rugged experience in the wilds of Northwest Canada with her missionary husband, where she practiced her profession under difficulties unknown except to the pioneers.

Travel up to distances of 75 miles was by boat, sleigh, horseback, and afoot. Fresh in grateful recollection was the horse, "Daisy," who could be depended upon to bring the lady doctor safely home even in a blinding snowstorm.

A love of nature prompted her to turn to gardening and to develop a bird sanctuary in her back yard after her return to Escanaba. Flowers and bird baths, a grape arbor and vegetable garden indicated her interests.

WANTS THE NEWS—After leaving Escanaba in 1947, Dr. Chenoweth started practice in Peterborough. She quickly developed a sizeable following of patients.

Then illness struck. She must stay quietly in bed. Only a few people in Escanaba know that she is ill.

And they would like others to know, so the little lady doctor who practiced here for so many years may be the recipient of cards—and newsy letters about what is going on "back home" in Escanaba.

Note: Dr. Chenoweth's address is 333 Charlotte street, Peterborough, Ontario, Canada.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

THE READER WRITES
Wilksburg, Pa.: "I wonder if you can help me with a word that has slipped my mind. It is descriptive of the shadow relief as cast by the foliage of a tree in moonlight—a patchwork of light and shadow."—S. P.

Answer: Probably the word you are seeking is "chiaroscuro" (ki-AH-roh-SKYOO-ro), a word borrowed from Italian, usually expressing a treatment in art in the blending or distribution of lights and shades. It might be used figuratively in the sense you describe. "Tracery" and "dapple" do not seem to be sufficiently exact.

Steuenville, Ohio: "Which is proper, 'Mr. Jones hardly ever speaks in public' or 'Mr. Jones rarely ever speaks in public'?"—Miss D. H.

Answer: Either form may be used conversationally, but neither is altogether appropriate for formal writing. It would be better to say, "Mr. Jones rarely speaks in public."

Abilene, Texas: "Are there any exceptions to the rule, 'i before e, except after c'?"—C. R. H.

Answer: Indeed, yes. I can think of a dozen without half trying. But if you give the rest of the rule—"or when sounded as a, as in neighbor and weigh"—the exceptions would be reduced. However, we still have such words as seige, either, neither, obeisance, leisure, and height—though I think that if we went back a few centuries we would find that our ancestors sounded all these e's as a yather, nayther, layzure, obaysance, and so on.

Hartsdale, N. Y.: "Many newscasters say, for example, 'The president's program is thus-and-so.' Is 'program' an accepted pronunciation of 'program'?"—C. D.

Answer: Some recent American dictionaries accept "PRO-gram" as an alternate pronunciation. The older ones here and in England, show only PRO-gram.

A married man who shows a lot of brass at the office may just be playing the second fiddle at home.

The best way to dig your way out of most of your worries is to dig in.

C-C Thanks Its Helpers

Letters Mailed By Secretary

A hearty expression of appreciation to all who helped to promote and develop Manistique during the past year is contained in a letter dispatched this week to members of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce by Fred D. Heltman, acting secretary.

Thanks is extended "to those who unselfishly contributed long hours for the good of our community . . . to those who are ever ready to contribute both time and money for civic betterment . . . to the merchants and individuals who so generously helped to make Santa Claus a reality with gifts of candy and toys for over 1,500 children . . . to the merchants who contributed cash a year ago for street lighting for the Christmas holidays."

Continuing the messages states that the lighting program has not been forgotten "and while this year's lighting is not 100 percent perfect you can depend upon 1952 being 200 percent perfect. The re-arrangement program has interfered with copper, and wire is one of the essentials. We will start our 1952 Christmas program early in August to avoid disappointment. We want the westside illuminated as brightly as the downtown area."

Appreciation also is extended to advertisers in the 1951 resort folders of which 15,000 were distributed throughout the middle-west "Several merchants have thanked us for an increase in business this year whereas many localities in recreational areas lacking publicity complained of poor business, poor fishing, rainy weather, etc."

Thanks also is extended to those who contributed to the chamber's industrial fund, which has been earmarked for industrial development use only . . . to surrounding communities for patronage of Manistique stores . . . to doctors, dentists, police officers, service station workers, clergymen and others who administer to the community's needs.

A concluding postscript on the letter states: "If the chamber of commerce didn't do it, who would?"

Yule Postal Volume Heavy

Record Set On Dec. 17 And 18

Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 17 and 18, were the busiest days in the history of the Manistique post office, it is reported by Frank N. Gierke, sr., local postmaster.

The entire period from Dec. 15 to Dec. 24, however, was exceptionally busy this year, he said. Total cancellation of letters and postcards during the period amounted to 116,856, while stamp sales totaled $3,043.70.

Of the stamps sold, 64,600 were two-centers and 22,700 were three-cent stamps.

Figures on incoming and outgoing parcel post packages were not available, but the gross was estimated as one of the largest in local postal history.

Kitten Takes Over As Foster Mother Of Two Small Pups

An orphan kitten has taken over the raising of two orphan puppies at the Herb Fagan home, near the Paul Bunyan Cook Camp.

After the mother of the puppies was killed about three weeks ago, the kitten, three weeks older than the little dogs, started to foster mother them, dragging them to the food dish and teaching them to eat.

The strange kitten and puppy drama started when two little kittens lost their mother about six weeks ago. When the pups were born a short time later, the kittens attached themselves to the mother dog. After about two days of objecting, the dog finally accepted the kittens as part of her family.

Then the mother dog was killed, and both families were orphaned.

It was then that one of the two kittens took over, foster mothering the other kitten and both pups. "I've never seen anything like it," said Herb Fagan. "It was amazing to see the little cat drag and guide the puppies to the food dish, and go around meowing for more food when she thought the pups were hungry. The kitten is starting to eat like a dog as a result of all this, sort of gulping her food rather than nibbling it daintily like a cat."

Eighty-five per cent of Berlin's production facilities were dispersed, destroyed or taken as Russian reparations at the end of World War II.

Matthews Gets Maxim Offer; Manager Hurley Refuses It

SEATTLE—(AP)—The man who has hollered loud enough to be heard in the halls of Congress with his demands for a Joey Maxim-Harry Matthews light heavyweight boxing title bout has turned it down.

He is Jack Hurley, cagy manager of Seattle's pride and joy, 29-year-old Harry (Kid) Matthews. Matthews has been knocking out or dusting off the nation's light heavyweight boxers with monotonous regularity in 1950 and 1951. And with each triumph has come a new demand that Maxim, the champion, meet the lethal-fisted kid.

IBC Target
The International Boxing club of New York has been the target of most of the oft-times agrimonious statements about failure to arrange a title bout. Congressmen from Idaho, Matthews' native state, and Washington began sounding off with demands for investigations of the IBC and its "control" of boxing.

The Department of Justice was even approached by some lawmakers of this state with a demand the IBC be charged as a trust illegally controlling boxing. Little developed beyond the words, however, until last week. Then the IBC's matchmaker, Al Weill, offered a title bout for Feb. 22. He offered Matthews 15 per cent of the gate and 15 per cent of television receipts. Hurley roared that the offer was "inadequate and insulting."

Weill countered with an increase to 20 per cent of gate and T-V, but with an ultimatum that Hurley sign by the end of this week "or else."

Rejects It
"Date, terms and other dictates connected with Maxim offer rejected," Hurley telegraphically snorted.

Last night, however, he told the Associated Press, that he hadn't slammed the door all the way shut.

"There probably will be a Maxim-Matthews fight, maybe. But we just won't fight on Maxim's terms. Why should we. Shucks, that fight should be in the summer time. In Seattle or Boise—in the open air. It could draw a half million dollar gate."

Matthews is undefeated in 69 bouts, although that string includes one draw in 1946.

Lawrence Tech Suffers First Court Defeat

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—Lawrence Tech is no longer among the nation's undefeated basketball teams.

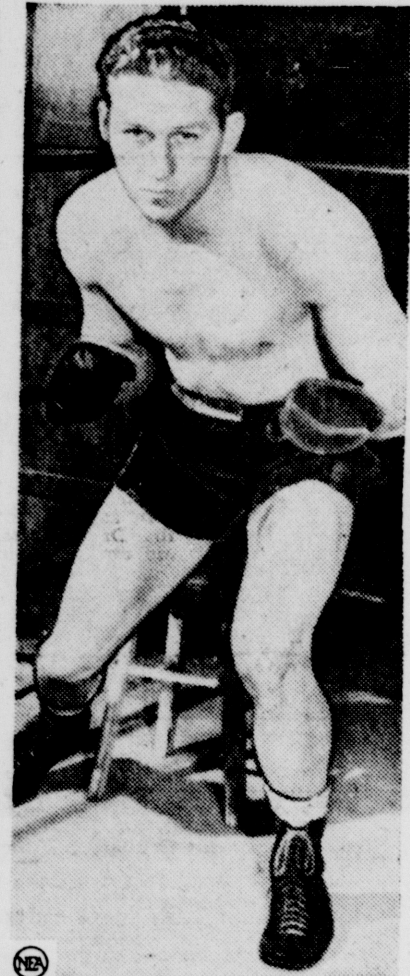

And the Blue Devils didn't even look like a first rate club here last night as St. Bonaventure's Brown Indians swamped them, 68-46.

Undefeated St. Bonaventure handed the Detroiters their first defeat in eight starts in the second game of a doubleheader. Buffalo defeated Connecticut 65-58, in the other before 4,153 fans.

Lawrence Tech had averaged better than 77 points in its first seven games. Nine veterans of last season's National Invitational tournament St. Bonaventure team saw service and each scored.

Leo Corkery was the Indians' top man with 12 points. Tech's No. 1 was Blaine Denning, who got 15.

The Detroiters were held to only 9 points in the final quarter, and didn't do much better in any of the others.

Athletics And Indians Tie For Fielding Crown

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, who finished sixth, and the runner-up Cleveland Indians shared the American league team fielding title last season with a .978 percentage.

The Athletics, who did fine statistically for Manager Jimmy Dykes, also led in double-plays, according to official league figures released yesterday. The A's made 204 twin killings, 13 fewer than the major league mark of 217 they set in 1949.

Philadelphia's Ferris Fain won the loop batting crown and Big Gus Zernial, who flourishes under the Dykes' touch, led in RBI's and homers.

Another Athletic star, Pete Suder, was a defensive champion, leading the circuit's second sackers with .987 as he bobbled only eight times in 595 chances.

Kell At Third
Other individual fielding leaders: First base—Mickey Vernon, Washington, .994; Shortstop—Chico Carrasquel, Chicago, .975; Third base—George Kell, Detroit, .969; Outfield—Johnny Groth, Detroit; Sam Mele, Washington and Gene Woodling, New York, tied at .993; catcher—Jim Hegan, Cleveland, .991.

At shortstop, Carrasquel nipped Philadelphia's Eddie Joost by one percentage point. Joost had a .974 mark as he erred 20 times in 767 chances. Carrasquel also had 20 bobbles, but handled 797 chances. The 1950 shortstop leader, New York's Phil Rizzuto, was third with .968.

Sandy Consuegra of Washington, with 36 errorless chances led 17 pitchers who had perfect fielding records.

St. Joe, St. Paul Win In Parochial Tourney; Play For Title Tonight

MARQUETTE—(Special)—The spirited St. Joe Trojans climaxed an uphill struggle here last night to tip the St. Ambrose Ramblers 56-53 and move into the finals of the fifth annual Upper Peninsula Parochial basketball tournament tonight at 8:30.

Coach Tom St. Germain's charges will face Negaunee St. Paul in the title tilt. St. Paul ran off with a 48-39 semi-final win over Baraga of Marquette in the first game of the twin bill last evening.

It was a rocky road the Trojans traveled last night. They ran into a torrid St. Ambrose quint in the first period and were dragging 17-9 at the end of the frame.

17-Point Lead
The Ramblers spread their lead to 30-17 at the half—and at one time boasted a 17-point margin at 29-12. But the roof caved in on St. Ambrose in the third period. With their two big guns out of action on personal fouls—Center Norbert Purol measures six-eight and Forward Mike McKay six-two—the Ramblers saw their lead vanish to a 39-39 tie with two minutes remaining in the period.

With a minute remaining in the third quarter St. Joe went ahead for the first time in the game, 42-41, and the quarter ended that way.

The loss of Purol and McKay killed St. Ambrose's chances in the final period and St. Joe remained in front to the final gun. The Trojans had leads ranging from one to five points late in the game.

34 For Kutches
Trojan Center Pete Kutches stunned the Ramblers with 34 points on the scoreboard. It was in a futile effort to bottle up the St. Joe star that McKay and Purol collected their limit of fouls. Both committed all five personal fouls against Kutches in the center slot.

Although the Trojans were off on their shooting and free throws, it was from the charity line that St. Joe won the game. St. Joe plunked in 12 of 22 free throws while St. Ambrose made nine of 20. Both teams scored 22 field goals.

Kutches upped his season scoring total to 143 points in five games by tossing in 13 field goals and eight of 15 free throws. Bob Sendenburgh contributed only eight points to the St. Joe total, but they were a vital part of the game.

Four Big Baskets
When things looked blackest for the Trojans in the early minutes of the third period, Sendenburgh found the range from outside the key and dropped in four buckets to set St. Joe on the comeback course. Kutches had his hottest period in the third quarter, scoring 15 points. Bill Baker was second high scorer for St. Joe with 11.

The game was played before a capacity crowd at the Marquette Gravenet high school gym, where the finals and consolation games will be staged tonight. The first game between St. Ambrose and Baraga will begin at 7:15.

The Foxes won with a 19-point outburst in the fourth period after trailing 37-36 at the three-quarter mark. Steve Machalk paced the winners with 17 points. Perkett of Powers was high for the evening with 21 points.

Rupp, Kentucky Coach, Planned To Retire Job

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Adolph Rupp said today he "would like to have retired" as Kentucky basketball coach, but since three of his former players are now involved in the college bribery scandal he has decided to stay and face the "shelling."

Kentucky, ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, takes on Brigham Young in the first round of the Sugar Bowl Basketball tournament tonight and St. Louis meets unbeaten Villanova.

Rupp, whose Kentuckians have won 442 games and lost only 79 in the last 21 years, confined his remarks in an interview to the basketball situation in general.

He predicted that the scandals would not hurt the game "because people like to see it and kids like to play it."

"If it should have hurt anywhere, it should have hurt at Kentucky, but the people at Lexington haven't lost faith," he said.

Groth And Wertz Defensive Surprises For 1951 Tigers

DETROIT—(AP)—You can put down Outfielders Vic Wertz and Johnny Groth as the Detroit Tigers' biggest defensive surprises of 1951.

And you can put down Catcher Joe Ginsberg, Outfielder Hoot Evers, Shortstop Johnny Lipon and Third Baseman George Kell as the biggest defensive flops.

The inclusion of Kell's name among the flops may come as a surprise to some fans. Didn't he lead the American league's third basemen in fielding effectiveness for the second year in a row?

20 Errors
The 1951 fielding averages, announced today, show Kell made 20 errors in 147 games for a .960 average.

But a year earlier Kell made only 9 errors in 157 games—10 more contests than the past season—for a .982 average. That was .22 higher than his 1951 performance.

This was a low season in the American league for third basemen. Kell's leading .960 average would have only earned him fifth place a year earlier.

Kell's companion on the left side of the infield—Shortstop Lipon—had a disappointing season. Lipon's average skidded from .958 a year ago to .949.

Ginsberg .978
Ginsberg replaced Aaron Robinson as the Tigers' No. 1 catcher. Robinson had made only 3 errors in 103 games for a .993 mark in 1950. Ginsberg committed 10 errors in 95 games for a .978 average in 1951.

As a rookie the previous season Ginsberg had appeared in 31 games and fielded .981.

Evers suffered the next biggest letdown to Kell. The lanky outfielder, despondent because he couldn't hit with his usual effectiveness, ranked 18th among the league's regular outfielders.

He made 6 errors in 108 games for a .976 mark.

A season earlier he led all regular outfielders with a .997 mark. He made only 1 error in 139 games.

But Manager Red Rolfe's other two outfield regulars pulled up their averages. And they were the only regulars who improved.

Groth went from .985 to .996 and tied Sam Mele of Washington and Gene Woodling of New York for the league lead among outfielders. Groth made 2 bobbles in 112 games.

Wertz rose from .967 to .989. He committed 3 errors in 131 games.

Second Baseman Jerry Priddy had a .980 average, a decrease of .01. First Baseman Dick Kryhoski slipped from .991 to .988. And his alternate at first base, Don Kolloway, rose from .989 to .992.

However Kolloway played in only 59 games in 1951, whereas he was a regular the prior season.

Big Ten Basketball Teams Open Tourney Play; Two Post Wins

CHICAGO—(AP)—Big Ten basketball teams, in their last weekend of nonconference play, are preparing for the title race with a rugged tournament splurge.

The weekend activity began last night with Iowa and Wisconsin beating California and Oregon, respectively, in a four-team meet at San Francisco.

Wisconsin defeated Oregon 82-77 on the strength of a 22-point fourth quarter rally after trailing by two points at the half and at the end of the third period. Al Nicholas led the Badgers with 23 points.

Sixth Straight
The undefeated Hawkeyes ran their win string to six straight in beating California 69-64.

Tonight the two Western conference teams switch opponents in the San Francisco Cow Palace doubleheader.

Michigan, also playing in an inter-sectional tourney, dropped its opening game of the Steel Bowl meet at Pittsburgh, losing to Penn State 62-60 after holding leads as high as 13 points. A field goal by Jess Arnette, freshman center, provided Penn State's winning margin in the final minute.

Michigan plays Virginia in a consolation game tonight. Pitt swamped Virginia 73-49 and will play Penn State for the title.

Play in three other tournaments featuring Big Ten teams begins tonight.

Indiana Tonight
In the annual Butler tourney, undefeated Indiana plays Notre Dame and Purdue takes on Butler in tonight's opening round. The all-Indiana meet ends tomorrow night.

Michigan State hosts three other teams, including Minnesota, in doubleheader programs tonight and tomorrow. The Spartans play Dartmouth tonight and Princeton tomorrow. Minnesota plays Princeton tonight and Dartmouth tomorrow.

Northwestern and Ohio State are at Seattle both nights in double-header activity. The Wildcats take on Washington State tonight while the Buckeyes play Washington. They switch opponents tomorrow.

Undefeated Illinois is at home against UCLA tonight. The Californians then go to Peoria for a game with Bradley Saturday.

Big Ten conference play starts next weekend with a full five-game schedule on tap.

Blue-Gray Grid Squads Select Game Captains

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(AP)—Three linemen and a back have been chosen by Blue-Gray warriors to lead their clubs in the All-Star football contest tomorrow.

A tackle and a guard—Dick Logan of Ohio State and Frank Kapral of Michigan State—were named co-captains of the Blues yesterday.

The Grays countered with Quarterback Jim Barton of LSU and Guard Joe Palumbo of Virginia as their leaders for the 13th annual Yankee-Rebel clash.

Head coaches Rip Engle of the North and Gus Tinsley of the South took pains not to understate each other's clubs as they put their men through final practices.

Odds Favor North
Engle insists the South should be favored despite what the odds-makers say. Most folks favor the North to win their fifth game against eight losses.

Engle says he is particularly worried about the heft in the southern line which averages about 225 pounds.

Although he admits he doesn't have "a real small team," Engle says he has "only two boys with any size"—Tackle George Young of Bucknell and Logan.

Tinsley won't make a prediction. "I just don't know what they (the North) have got," he said yesterday.

Michigan State Will Remember 1951 As Year Grid Team Won Them All

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—1951 will be remembered in Michigan State sports history as the year the football team won them all.

Michigan State was rated among the top teams in the country even before the season started. The Spartans lived up to early predictions by beating Oregon State, Michigan, Ohio State, Marquette, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame, Indiana and Colorado.

At the close of the season MSC ranked second nationally behind Tennessee in the Associated Press poll. And you can still get a lively argument in Michigan by discussing the merits of the one-two rating.

Ex-Michigan Coaches To Match Teams

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Two former Michigan coaches will match teams and wits to night in the opening game of the third annual basketball classic at Michigan State College.

Minnesota, which gained national attention by upsetting Kentucky, and Princeton, one of the powers of the east, open the two nights of play (at 7:30 p. m.) Michigan State takes on Dartmouth in the nightcap.

Princeton's Frank Cappon was a Michigan basketball star and a coach there in the late 1930's. Ozzie Cowles also was Michigan basketball coach before he switched to Minnesota.

Spartan Injuries

Michigan State will carry a record of four straight wins into the game with Dartmouth. The Ivy League school has a four and four won-and-lost record, the last defeat a 63-45 beating by St. Louis University.

Big Bob Carey, who was used only sparingly in the opening games this season, may have to be the mainstay at center for Michigan State. Denny Hartman, the usual starter at the spot, is still nursing a charley horse.

Michigan State's chances were further hurt by a similar injury to Forward Bill Bower, leading scorer on the squad. Bower's injury is the least serious of the two and he may be ready for part time work tonight.

Sedgman Is Magnificent In Aussie Davis Cup Victory

SYDNEY, Australia.—(AP)—In one of the most magnificent exhibitions of tennis ever seen in any country, Frank Sedgman completed his job of crushing America's Davis cup team today.

With issue still in balance in the fifth and deciding match of the challenge round, the young blond Aussie sliced Vic Seixas into ribbons, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, to retain the coveted cup for his country, three matches to two.

Ted Schroeder had kept the challengers in the running by handling Mervyn Rose his second straight set defeat, 6-4, 13-11, 7-5. The Americans at least proved they are champions of Rose.

Capacity Crowd
The third straight capacity crowd of 15,300 at the White City Stadium gave a five-minute roar of triumph after Sedgman nearly knocked Seixas' racquet from his hand with his unreturnable service for final point.

They remained standing for another 20 minutes while Prime Minister Robert Menzies presented the trophy to the winners in a midcourt ceremony. They wound up three happy days by giving three cheers for both teams.

Australia was in the throes of a fine tennis binge tonight. Sedgman was the toast on every lip.

Not until they witnessed his flawless performances the past three days had the Australians quite realized what a truly great tennis player the Melbourne youngster has become.

Lost One Set

In defeating Schroeder on opening day, then joining Ken McGregor in the vital doubles victory over Schroeder and Tony Trabert yesterday and beating Seixas today, he lost only one set. That was to Schroeder after he tied two sets to none.

It appears certain Sedgman will turn professional sometime within the new year. If he does he will be worth anybody's money to see.

Seixas today played probably as good tennis as he ever played in 28 years. He fought valiantly for every point right to the end. Yet he never had a ghost of a chance against the inspired athlete on the other side of the net.

"comeback kids" through their trick of dropping behind or allowing a tie in the first part of the game. Four times in succession, Michigan State had to come roaring back to quell the opposition in the final quarters.

It also was the year of the "pony" backfield featuring such lightweight speed sensations as Leroy Bolden of Flint and Billy Wells of Menominee.

Don Coleman, the power-packed Flint tackle, and Captain and End Bob Carey both made first string on the AP All-American. Coleman also was voted "most valuable" by his teammates and his "78" jersey was retired for all time.

Probably the most satisfying victory to MSC rosters was the 25-0 defeat of Michigan. But the Spartans reached their peak in the 35-0 rout of Notre Dame, all claimed as one of the upsets of the year and "a perfect game" by the sports writers.

Although the football team stole the spotlight, other MSC sports squads also grabbed their share of glory during the year.

First Big Ten Title

The tennis team brought back the first Big Ten championship to East Lansing, capturing the Western conference crown after a season marked by nine straight dual meet victories in the fall, Karl Schlademan's cross-country squad also won the Big Ten title.

Pete Newell won 10 and lost 11 in his first year as basketball coach at Michigan State. In the young 1951-52 season the Spartans were off to a good start with wins in their first four games.

The swimming team won nine of 10 dual meets and was a runner-up in the Big Ten and NCAA meets. The wrestling team won six of nine meets and ranked third in conference competition.

The track squad was another strong conference contender with a runner-up position in the outdoor meet and third place in the indoor conference championships.

Michigan State edged out Wisconsin to win the team title in the 12th annual NCAA boxing tournament and had two individual champions in 145-pound Jed Black and 175-pound Chuck Speiser.

The baseball team, under veteran coach John Kobs, won 17 and lost nine against topnotch competition. The gymnastics team, with a record of five wins and three losses, placed second in the Western conference championships.

The golfers won 10 and lost three in dual meet competition and the hockey team won six and lost 11.

Writer Lauds DiMaggio For Quitting Baseball

BY FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—You've got to give Joe DiMaggio credit for quitting.

One of baseball's greatest hitters and outfielders just couldn't take money under false pretenses. That's what he'd be doing if he played another season.

He would have had to take a 25 percent pay cut, the maximum permitted under baseball law, had he stayed around. Joe would have none of that. He has too much pride.

If you've seen the DiMaggio salary charts you might have noticed that Joe either got a pay raise or drew the same salary as the previous year during his 13 seasons with the Yankees. He never had to suffer a pay cut.

At 37 he found it difficult to get out of bed at 11 o'clock in the morning. He felt he couldn't give his best, and anything less than perfection bored DiMaggio to the core.

"It took me four to five innings to wake up in the outfield," he said just before he left for California. "It took a trifle longer for me to come up after fielding a ground ball in the outfield. But now I feel wonderful to be back to normal life."

Doubts Mantle
As to the Yankees and their centerfielder for 1952 we have doubt that Mickey Mantle will be their man. We think the Yankee officials are whistling past the graveyard in the Mantle case.

Mickey couldn't go out today and play a game of ball and there's no assurance that he will.

Bob Winslow resigned as head football coach at Arizona yesterday, quitting under fire.

Offense Marks Rose Bowl Grid Practice Play

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—Offensive drills again dominated workouts of the Stanford and Illinois football teams today, leading observers to wonder what will happen New Year's Day in the duel between the rival quarterbacks.

Leading the Illini attack will be Tommy O'Connell, and his opposite is Gary Kerkorian of the Indians.

There is quite a contrast between the two—one a sophomore, the other a senior.

O'Connell is the soph, an all-state player when he attended Chicago's South Shore high school.

Kerkorian starred at Inglewood high school, not far from the Rose Bowl itself, and is generally regarded as the best quarterback Stanford has had since the glory days of fireball Frankie Albert.

Cool Under Fire
O'Connell, particularly for a young man who just won his first varsity letter, is notoriously cool under fire.

Kerkorian is much the same, and many think he has more of a gambling complex, as did his predecessor, Albert then does the Illini kid.

Statistics show that Kerkorian completed 103 passes in 186 throws for 1417 yards and seven touchdowns. His completion record is 55.4 per cent. He had seven throws intercepted.

In addition, he placekicked 27 out of 32 tries for points after touchdowns.

O'Connell, who transferred from Notre Dame after one semester, completed 56 out of 106 passes for 625 yards, with 11 interceptions. Six throws went for touchdowns.

Of the 277 players who participated in National league games in 1951, 231 took part in 10 or more games.

All-Americans Dot All-Stars In Shrine Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO.—(AP)—Fifty of America's greatest college football stars, including eight All-Americans, do their bit for crippled children in the annual Shrine game tomorrow.

Their efforts, before a sellout crowd of 60,000 in Kezar Stadium, will net the Shrine's crippled children's hospital here more than $100,000.

And they'll be seen by millions of television fans on a national hookup.

All-Americans
The East's All-Americans are Halfback Dick Kazmaier of Princeton and Tackles Bob Tonnoff of Notre Dame and Don Coleman of Michigan State, and Ohio State's 1950 A-A Halfback, Vic Janowicz, who was on 1951's second squad.

The West's All-Americans are Fullbacks Hugh McElhenney of Washington and Ollie Matson of San Francisco, Guard Les Richter of California and Tackle Jim Weatherall of Oklahoma.

The East will be co-captained by Centers Wayne Robinson of Minnesota on offense and Bill Hughes of Michigan State on defense. West co-captains will be Southern California's Halfback Frank Gifford and Weatherall.

be ready next spring, medical reports to the contrary. I say you can't count on a fellow who has been wearing a leg brace for two months.

Oddly enough when Mantle fell down while chasing a fly ball in the World Series he was running hard, but not in the proper direction, as later events proved. DiMaggio was there to back him up and made as graceful a catch as you'd care to see.

That was DiMaggio, the ever so graceful one chasing a fly ball, running the bases or hitting a home run. But last season, Joe was having reflex trouble. He was getting his hands ahead of his bat. Golfers will tell you this brings about a slice. In baseball the ball cannot be pulled properly when the hands move ahead of the bat.

Many of his drives sailed to right field, some of them past the right field box seats.

Afraid Of 1952
"There's no money in right field hitting for a pull hitter," baseball experts will tell you. That's just how Joe felt last season.

He was afraid of what 1952 might bring. The Yankees were paying him to hit to left field.

Last summer, Billy Martin, who was Joe's constant companion on the road, said: "If we're going to win the pennant we'll need Joe. He means so much to all of us Yankees."

Casey Stengel never spoke any truer words when he said: "We couldn't have won without you, Joe."

The Yankees and all of baseball will miss him.

Seven Wildcats Down With Flu, Grid Coach Says

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—Coach Paul Bryant of Kentucky worried today over the illness of seven of his players as the Wildcats held final practice here before going to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl.

The seven, three of them probable starters in the game with Texas Christian Jan. 1, were stricken with a virus infection.

Bryant said that although the illness was not serious, the boys could not practice and if they are able to play won't be up to par.

Among those who are ill are Pete Kirk and Jim Proffitt, ends, and Harold Gruner, halfback, who have been starting players. Others on the sick list are John Griggs, center; Calvin Smith, tackle; Alle Felch, fullback, and Don Jirschele, halfback.

The illness was described by Bryant as resembling the flu.

New York Rangers Win But Lose Defenseman

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The New York Rangers, improving fast under their new coach, Bill Cook, took a hard blow today in the loss of their star defenseman, Allan Stanley.

The hockey ace will be operated on Saturday for a bone separation in his left shoulder, incurred when the Rangers beat Detroit 1-0 Wednesday night. He may be lost for all the rest of the season.

Doyle Retains Mackinac Post

DETROIT—(AP)—W. F. Doyle will be chairman of the Mackinac Island commission for another year.

But when his commission term ends in 1953 he said he would not accept reappointment.

Doyle, for the third time since 1949, retained his chairmanship yesterday as the commission split 2-2 between him and James P. Dunnigan, of West Branch. Neither Doyle nor Dunnigan voted.

Doyle, as in the past, ruled that the chairman retained his post under commission rules until his successor is named. He ruled the tie vote no election.

Doyle is a Republican. Dunnigan a Democrat.

Mrs. Margaret Price of Ypsilanti and George D. Schermerhorn of Reading voted for Dunnigan. Both are appointees of Governor G. Mennen Williams, a Democrat.

James F. Cable, of Mackinac Island, and Dr. Henry A. Ward, of Saginaw, both Republicans, voted for Doyle.

Dr. Ward, also by a tie vote, retained his secretaryship another year. Mrs. Price was offered by the Democrats. Doyle voted against her, so did Cable.

Big Bag Of Mail From Korea Prisoners Being Flown To U. S.

TOKYO — (AP)—A nine-pound bag holding the first batch of letters from Allied prisoners in North Korean camps started toward the United States by plane today.

The mail arrived from Korea earlier in the day and was speeded along after processing at an army post office. The Communists turned over more than 800 letters from Allied prisoners to United Nations delegates at the Panmunjom truce talks Wednesday.

It was not determined immediately if the army released all letters for forwarding.

Some came in American style white envelopes. Others, apparently supplied by the Communists, had red, green or blue borders. These last also carried a picture of a dove of peace holding an olive branch.

The letters were grouped in bundles under state headings, placed in an orange-colored bag and marked "POW Mail Express."

Cobalt is seldom found in its natural state, almost always occurring with iron, nickel, and other metals.

customed to this climate and are susceptible to local diseases, so it wouldn't be surprising if a large number died of disease."

U. N. negotiators at Panmunjom again accused the Reds of insincerity and stalling the truce talks.

The Communists, in turn, declared that Allied insistence on banning a Red air buildup during an armistice runs the "risk of throwing overboard completely the whole basis" of negotiations.

Red China's Peiping radio quoted a Communist negotiator as telling U. N. delegates at Panmunjom: "If you want the negotiations to continue, I must ask you not to repeat such statements."

The Reds again refused to put in writing an oral promise not to build up their air strength during an armistice.

Fliers Are Freed By Hungary, Taken Back To Austria

Commissioner Donnelly and Col. John Gullett, commander of the U. S. Air Force base at Tullin, along with other members of the American welcoming party.

The airmen wore their Air Force uniforms.

The four fliers went into a room from which photographers and reporters were barred.

The airmen appeared tired. Donnelly brought the men through the border barrier in his big car, bedecked with the American flag and his blue ambassador's banner.

Donnelly's car stopped just outside the door of the police post building. The fliers were rushed inside by American officials.

The fliers are:

Capt. John J. Swift of Glens Falls, N. Y., pilot.

Capt. Dave H. Henderson of Shawnee, Okla., co-pilot.

T/Sgt. Jess A. Duff of Spokane, Wash., mechanic.

Sgt. James A. Flann of Kingsland, Ark., radio man.

They were forced down near Papa, Hungary, Nov. 19 by Soviet fighter planes stationed in Communist-ruled Hungary under the World War II peace treaty. In a twin-engine C-47 they were en route from Erding, Germany, to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, on a routine delivery of supplies, when they reported themselves lost.

They were not heard from until Dec. 3 when Tass, Russian news agency, announced they had been forced down and were being held on charges of violating the iron curtain for the purpose of "planting spies and saboteurs."

The United States promptly denied the charges and demanded the fliers be released. American diplomats in Budapest tried without success to see them. Two days before Christmas Hungary announced a secret military court had tried, convicted and sentenced the four fliers. They were ordered to pay a fine of $30,000 each or spend 90 days in jail.
